Ukraine is the second largest market in Europe and the biggest in Eastern Europe with 46m consumers. This country is an exciting and promising market, ideally positioned to reach the Russian, CIS and European markets. Its economy has experienced positive growth in recent years and bilateral trade figures are growing despite the economic downturn. In 2008 British exports to Ukraine rose by 31% to £574m and Ukrainian exports to the UK by 38% to £179m.

This country offers major opportunities in communications, consultancy and technical assistance, education and training, fast-moving consumer goods and security. Ukraine was also selected to host the European Football Championship in 2012. This will generate opportunities in infrastructure, roads, airports and hotels.
